DETAILED ACTIONDrawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the groove on the top of a mounting means with height control (Figures 4-6), a pulse generating means, and a sensor discriminator means must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Art Unit: 3611

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fahs, US #5,132,666 in view of Schweinberger, US #6,129,035.

4. Fahs teaches a display for a vehicle roof (Figure 3) including a housing (Figure 1) and a display panel, 9a. The display panel may display a programmed message which can be scrolling or flashing/pulsing (column 2 lines 65-68) and made up of small lights (LEDs). A control unit inside the vehicle allows the operator to choose a message (column 4 lines 10-14). The display may include audible signal means (column 3 lines 8-13) and may be powered by a portable battery or the vehicle battery (column 3 line 67). The control unit includes a series of buttons (switches) for controlling the lights in the display.

5. Fahs does not teach a magnetic mounting means or height adjustment, however, these are old and well known in the art. Schweinberger teaches a display for mounting on the roof of a vehicle that includes height control (collapsing) elements 14A, B, C and magnet 40 for mounting to the vehicle roof. It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art to utilize such an adjustable, magnetic support for the display of Fahs so that the display may be easily mounted and removed when needed, and so that it may be raised or lowered as desired or collapsed for easy storage.

Art Unit: 3611

6. Fahs does not specifically teach an arrow as the visual display, however, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to utilize an arrow if it is desired that traffic move around the vehicle, and Fahs describes using any particular program routine.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US patents 4751494 and 5918397 are cited as of interest.
